

PRESENTATION BY LAURENTIAN TO CUA

The University will present its annual brief to the Ontario Committee on University Affairs at Nipissing College in North Bay on Monday, November 12, 1973. The colleges affiliated to Laurentian University will also make their presentations to the Committee on that same day. The schedule will be:

- 9:00 a.m. — Nipissing College
- 10:30 a.m. — Laurentian University
- 2:00 p.m. — Algoma College
- 3:30 p.m. — Le Collège de Hearst.

Laurentian has re-examined its academic programmes in the light of current realities in order to establish a five-year academic plan based on agreed-upon academic priorities. Senate has formally adopted a great majority of the recommendations contained in the Report on Academic Planning. While many details remain to be worked out, particularly in the area of programme development, the adoption of the academic plan gives Laurentian a set of academic priorities established within the context of a renewed commitment to bilingualism.

The University, in its brief to the Committee on University Affairs, will present its judgements on how best to fulfill its responsibilities to higher education. A major portion of the brief will consist of Laurentian's answers to questions posed by the Committee. These questions deal with:

- enrolment;
- undergraduate studies;
- graduate studies;
- health sciences;
- research;
- part-time students;
- faculty;
- status of women;
- student support;
- finance-operating and capital;
- economics.

Laurentian will also discuss in its presentation some special items of concern: the federated and affiliated colleges; l'Ecole Normale; the Museum and Arts Centre.

Du fait que le bilinguisme occupe une place importante à la Laurentienne, et que le Comité des Affaires universitaires est particulièrement intéressé à la question, une attention spéciale est accordée au mémoire sur le bilinguisme à l'Université. Une analyse a été faite sur les coûts du bilinguisme et sur le problème d'obtenir des finances suffisantes du gouvernement ontarien. Le mémoire définit le bilinguisme tel qu'il est conçu par la Laurentienne. Une étude est effectuée sur les populations du nord-est de l'Ontario, plus précisément sur les besoins en matière d'éducation post-secondaire et sur la situation globale des franco-ontariens.

Le rôle bilingue joué par l'Université Laurentienne ainsi que les programmes offerts en Français sont expliqués. Le mémoire décrit la planification des nouveaux programmes et donne sa conception sur l'inscription des étudiants francophones. Il définit le besoin de renforcer les aspects sociaux et culturels de la vie des franco-ontariens.

Laurentian University's entire presentation to the Committee on University Affairs is to be considered against the background of its five-year academic plan.

COLLATION DES GRADES

At Laurentian's fall convocation held on October 27 in the Fraser Auditorium, there were 227 bachelor's degrees awarded in Arts, Science, Nursing and Physical and Health Education, and three Master of Science degrees — two in Biology and one in Chemistry.

An honorary doctorate of Letters was conferred upon Dr. Jean d'Auteuil Richard, s.j.

Durant les six années qu'il fut recteur à l'Université de Sudbury, le Père Richard a participé très activement à la vie universitaire et aux diverses activités de la Laurentienne. Né à Richard, en Saskatchewan, une ville nommée d'après son père, il a fait ses études au Collège des Jésuites à Edmonton. Il est bachelier de l'Université Laval et docteur en philosophie de l'Université Grégorienne de Rome. Il fut recteur au Collège St-Boniface affilié à l'Université du Manitoba, qui lui a décerné un doctorat honorifique en droit.

Excerpts from Convocation Address by Rev. J. d'Auteuil Richard, s.j.

... It is in the XIXth and XXth Centuries that the university has gradually taken on its modern dimension, particularly in the field of research. Better methodologies, and more and more sophisticated instrumentation opened up unlimited possibilities. The transmission of knowledge and research ceased to be the privilege of universities. Governments and private corporations invaded massively the field, pouring hundreds of millions of dollars in a variety of laboratories and research centers.

The results have been and are spectacular. The amount of knowledge and information thus accumulated is stupendous and is growing at an incredible tempo. The world was amazed a few years ago to learn by a report published by Unesco that 90% of the scholars, scientists and major researchers who have existed throughout the centuries were still living, most of them still at work. ...

The technological revolution has gotten out of hand. By the sheer momentum of its intrinsic dynamism of research for research and expansion for expansion, it is developing wildly in all directions and acquiring in the process a frightful momentum. Mankind has developed the power to destroy and annihilate itself. Some of the greatest minds of our times have envisaged this possibility. ...

The great scientist Einstein once said: In the past, goals and purposes were perfect and the means to attain them imperfect. To-day we have perfect means and immense possibilities, but confusion in our goals.

Now that we possess the power and know-how to accomplish about anything in the material order of things, ways and means must be found to apply this tremendous power and know-how to the pursuit of worthwhile goals and purposes, in the words of Einstein.

Who can better accomplish this evaluation but perceptive, imaginative and independent researchers in the universities around the world, particularly in the fields of social and human sciences?

Excerpts from Convocation Address By Rev. J.*d'Auteuil Richard, s.j.

More than any other group of men they can appraise the technological revolution, its dangers and shortcomings on the one hand and its tremendous potentialities on the other, in terms of service to the whole of mankind.

Finally, through their teaching, lecturing and publications, they can contribute more than any single group to stimulate a much-needed awareness to the basic problems of the world in their students, in the population at large and in the leaders of the world.

If university researchers stand up to their responsibilities, there is hope that the new civilization, emerging from the impact of the technological revolution, will not be some robot-like world in which man is dominated and crushed by the technology which he has created, but instead a global civilization in which all men, and not only privileged groups and nations as to-day, will not only enjoy the material benefits now available, but will be made to pursue their own personal ideals in freedom and dignity.

This is the major long-range contribution that ideally the university can make to the changing world to-day.

COU RESPONSE TO THE REPORT OF THE COMMISSION ON POST-SECONDARY EDUCATION IN ONTARIO

Released on October 1, 1973, the response to the Report of the Commission on Post-Secondary Education in Ontario by the Council of Ontario Universities denotes a selective rather than a comprehensive treatment. Opinions on most of the matters in the Report which concern the universities had already been developed in the submission, Towards 2000, and in the COU Responses to the Draft Report. After studying the final version of the Commission's report, COU isolated a few subjects of particular importance: the place occupied by high standards of quality in the Commission's priorities; the structure of the system; the financing of the system, especially the proposal relating to research financing; student aid; and the place of examinations in licensure for professional practice.

Preliminary Report On Full-Time Enrolment in Ontario

The Hon. Jack McNie, Minister of Colleges and Universities, has released preliminary figures on full-time student enrolment in Ontario's universities and colleges of applied arts and technology. College enrolment is up 10% and university enrolment has increased by 3%.

In addition to the 10% increase in enrolment for diploma and certificate programmes in applied arts, business and technology, 7,668 diploma nursing students have been transferred to the colleges from hospital schools of nursing. This brings the full-time post secondary enrolment at the colleges to 50,534 or 30% above last year.

Full-time enrolment at Ontario universities increased by 3,815 for an estimated total of 138,245. This increase of 3% compares with last year's enrolment increase of 1%. Undergraduate enrolment now stands at 124,940 and graduate enrolment at 13,305.

It is expected that a report on the enrolment of part-time students will be released soon.

Seminar on Responsibilities of Universities

During the week of October 21, a group of professors from York University and the University of Toronto, with a small number of representatives of the wider community, began a series of discussions.

The purpose of the project is to develop a statement of the responsibilities and essential requirements of universities—it might be described as a Bill of Rights and Responsibilities of universities—with particular reference to those in Ontario.

This, of course, is an extremely complex and difficult task. It has not been done before—in Ontario or in any other jurisdiction. If it succeeds a historic document will result.

In order to finance the seminar the Richard Ivey Foundation of London, Ontario, has provided a grant of $10,000.

The plan is to organize a seminar of 25 persons who will meet at approximately fortnightly intervals during the winter of 1973-74, 10 professors from each of the University of Toronto and York University, 5 or 6 persons knowledgeable about the problems of higher education but who are not academics—from the fields of government, business, the arts, the courts, the health professions and the press. In addition, one guest from each of the United States, Britain and Continental Europe will be invited to speak to and participate in sessions early in the series. All regular members will be expected to carry on exploration of the topic between sessions and the meetings themselves must be intensive work sessions.

There will be four sessions of the seminar before Christmas and four after. They will be held at Glendon College of York University.

L.U. BURSARY FUND

The Laurentian University Bursary Fund has now been extended to include full-time and part-time students attending Laurentian University and its outside centres.

The students may write the Student Awards Office at Laurentian University for application forms. The deadline is January 31/74.

COUNCIL OF ONTARIO UNIVERSITIES

Proposal for Revision of Operating Grants Formula

The Ontario Operating Grants Formula came into use in 1967-68. The original document describing the formula stated that it should be subject to "continuing study and regular review". While a number of ad-hoc changes have been made in details of the formula, the first full-scale review began in June, 1971 under the auspices of the COU/CUA Joint Subcommittee on Finance/Operating Support. The first phase of the Subcommittee's work involved a survey of the issues associated with formula review, and the results of this phase were published by COU in May, 1972, under the title Review of the Ontario Operating Grants Formula: Interim Report. Work on the formula review was then suspended at the request of CUA pending receipt of the final report of the Commission on Post-Secondary Education in Ontario. The Joint Subcommittee began intensive work on revision of the formula again in March of this year, and a working paper outlining a proposal for revision was presented to COU at its September meeting. The proposal incorporates three fundamental principles: assurance of basic support tied to inflation factors, a more appropriate weighting system for increments to enrolment, and a sharing arrangement between institutions to correct for unusual distribution of growth in the system. The proposed scheme would be applied for a period of two or three years, at which time it would be re-evaluated and, if need be, revised again.

The Council held an initial discussion on the approach taken by the Joint Subcommittee, and it was agreed that discussion would be resumed at the October meeting, after the universities had had an opportunity to study the proposal in detail.

Wilfred Laurier University accepted for Membership in COU

Waterloo Lutheran University, renamed Wilfred Laurier University, became a provincially assisted institution on November 1, 1973. At the September meeting of COU, Wilfrid Laurier University was accepted for full membership in the Council coincident with the change in status.

Programme for Instructional Development

Professor H.M. Good of Queen's University, Director of the Programme, has found widespread interest in the Programme during his recent visits to all the Ontario universities.

Toward the end of August, Dr. Good visited Laurentian and met with representatives of the divisions, the Faculty Association and the S.G.A.

The Programme is currently organizing a workshop (for November 18-21) aimed at developing a statement of what the Programme's priorities ought to be for 1974, with two staff members and two student delegates invited from each university. Laurentian's faculty delegates will be Dr. David Pearson and Dr. David Romney. The S.G.A. has been unable to provide student delegates and has agreed to faculty attending as substitutes.

A Laurentian liaison committee is currently being set up to maintain contact with the director and the joint CUA-COU committee and to serve as a source of information for both individuals and academic units.

New Ontario Graduate Scholarship Programme

To encourage excellence in graduate studies, the Ministry of Colleges and Universities has established a new Ontario Graduate Scholarship Programme.

During the 1974-75 academic year, 1,000 Scholarships will be awarded to two categories of Scholars:

- (a) 150 Scholars to be nominated by Ontario's 15 provincially supported universities for study at the individual institutions (10 per university).
- (b) 850 Scholars to be nominated by a Selection Board appointed by the Minister of Colleges and Universities for awards tenable at the Ontario universities of the student's choice.

Les étudiants de toutes disciplines sont admissibles, sauf ceux en théologie.

Le candidat, qui doit détenir un diplôme universitaire de premier cycle, doit avoir obtenu d'excellents résultats dans la plupart des matières qu'il a étudiées et particulièrement durant ses dernières années d'études et dans les spécialisations qu'il a choisies. Il ne doit pas nécessairement être inscrit à une université lorsqu'il fait sa demande, mais il devra être inscrit à titre d'étudiant à temps complet pendant tout la durée de sa bourse.

The scholarships will provide $800 a term plus graduate tuition and related fees for either two or three consecutive terms. Students must apply by December 1, 1973 to be considered for scholarships commencing in May or September, 1974 or January, 1975.

The new programme replaces the Ontario Graduate Fellowship Programme and is different from the fellowship programme in several significant ways.

Applicants for scholarships must have a very high level of academic achievement with first class standing in their major subject areas. Previously, second class standing was the minimum qualification.

The maximum award under the fellowship programme was $2,250 for three terms. Under the Ontario Graduate Scholarship Programme the maximum award for three terms is approximately $3,500. Allowance for part-time teaching or research assistantships is also more generous under the new programme.

SCHOOL OF NURSING

There appear to be misconceptions within the University community about the School of Nursing and its future.

It has been decided by Senate and the Board of Governors that the School of Nursing is to be continued. There are at present:

- 20 students in 1st year
- 18 students in 3rd year
- 6 students in 4th year.

The School of Nursing will offer:

- in 1974-75 — years 1, 2 and 4;
- in 1975-76 — years 1, 2 and 3;
- in 1976-77 — years 1, 2, 3 and 4.

The present staff under the direction of Miss Alma Reid, and the members of the School of Nursing Advisory Committee are planning a curriculum of studies which will raise the standard of the School to the level of the best Schools of Nursing in Ontario.

NEW APPOINTMENT

President Edward J. Monahan announces the appointment of Mr. Donald Obonsawin as Secretary of the Board of Governors.

Donald Obonsawin est diplômé de l'Université Laurentienne et achève présentement le travail requis par l'Université Laval pour la maîtrise en Science Politique.

As Secretary of the Board, Mr. Obonsawin will also act as University Development Officer. In this capacity his principal initial responsibilities will involve the formulation of a programme whereby Laurentian will seek to obtain funds in the areas of bequests, special gifts and special names.

Instructional Media Centre

During the summer, the Department of Theatre and Television and the Audio-Visual Department were combined under the title of Instructional Media Centre. The Centre is located in the H.J. Fraser Building and offers services in the following areas: audio-visual aids, television production, photo and film production, graphics preparation, and operation of the Fraser Auditorium.

The Centre has already produced and copied videotaped lectures in Sociology and Physics for distribution to the outside centres of the university. W.B. Hart, director of the Centre, says that these lectures have met with considerable success. He also states that there is equipment and time available for individual faculty members to familiarize themselves with the facilities and to develop skills in their use. There is available from the OECA a good supply of excellent videotape material. The Centre is at present classifying the material for faculty use.

Special film presentations, such as the recent filming of the exploration of an archaeological site, have already been produced. Programmes for the School of Physical Education are currently being developed.

Further information on the facilities and services available from the Instructional Media Centre can be obtained by calling local 238.

"Face aux sentiments"

Les services de consultation mettent désormais à la disposition de qui-conque serait intéressé, ce nouveau service. Il s'agit de sessions basées sur la fusion de deux principes de jeux de communication — La Roulette des sentiments et l'Expression corporelle. Les participants, préférablement 4 à 6 amis(es) qui se connaissent de longue date, cherchent à approfondir, face au réel concret du moment présent, le monde complexe de leurs sentiments interpersonnels. Naissant au travers de structures de jeux, l'échange, l'intensité de communication qui en émerge grandit, fleurit, et porte enfin ses fruits à tous et chacun des participants au rythme des pulsations individuelles, que chacun apporte au groupe. En fait, il faut vivre l'expérience pour mieux savoir ce que c'est!
